Daniel Whelan Engineering Works Limited is a manufacturer and supplier of architectural steelwork dedicated to our belief in the principles of quality and service. Since 1972 we have been based in Borris, Co Carlow and have established a reputation for innovative designs of gates, railings, balconies and much more, with attention to customer requirements, tailored to suit their individual needs.

We are able to process our customer requirements from initial concept through to CAD design, fabrication and installation if required. In addition to these services, we are reputed as restorers of railings and gates from bygone eras and pride ourselves on using manufacturing techniques which would have been used by craftsmen from centuries ago.

We have a proven and tested relationship with our partners in galvanizing, powdercoating, joinery and glazing.
